

The Baby Nurse, Where Babies Are Our Business

Chris & Jen, New Canaan, CT

My wife and I, by nature, are hands on parents. For our first child we did not have a lot of help. We did everything ourselves with some help from our families. As our second child approached, we considered hiring a baby nurse to help us through the the process. We were very worried about having someone in our house helping us with our newborn. It might be overwhelming...with my wife nursing it might be unnecessary...maybe having a baby nurse wouldn't be that helpful....

We couldn't have been more wrong. After speaking to a close family friend who had used this service, we ultimately hired Consuelo to help us. It was an absolute pleasure. She was amazingly helpful, yet not on top of us. She gave us space with our baby when needed, and was ready to help when appropriate. Having Consuelo there did not just make thing easier for us, she allowed us to spend time with our first child. The experience we had was a tremendous success and I would use this service again if we decide to have another child.
