TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

We remain grateful for the professional care and services provided by Elvie and Lydia.

The birth of our first child coincided with several major life events and without family in the area, we decided we needed a baby nurse to assist with the transitions. They cared for our newborn, taught us how to respond to her, guided us through baths and diapering, and shared with us best practices from their years of trusted experience.

We felt secure in their care and perspectives and actively recommend The Baby Nurse to all of our friends who are expecting -- especially first time parents, those who have limited parental leave, and those with difficult labor and delivery. Elvie and Lydia gave us the additional resources of time, instruction, and care to facilitate bonding and post partum healing.
